“ I have many fond memories of my Dad, and I will miss him. Anyone who knew my Father knew that he had addiction issues and struggled many years of his life with them. However, the last 5 years of his life he was clean and did the best that he could to mend the broken relationships addiction caused. To be completely honest it caused hardships in my relationship with him.

As I sit here looking through the old photos that my Aunt Sissy gave me, my heart aches. He saved so many of the memories that we shared. I truly wish that I could take back the time of division that separated us for so long.

He was flawed, as are we all. I beseech anyone that may see this to keep your loved ones close. Be there for support through struggles. Love unselfishly. See through the flaws that mar us all, to the heart of the person.

I love you Dad. I'm sorry. I'll miss you till we meet again.

Joshua, we're keeping your family in prayer! We met your dad in church when he came with your grandma Thelma, very nice guy! Not one of us is perfect and we all make mistakes. May it bring comfort and peace that he is suffering no more mentally or physically in the arms of Jesus! Hold on to those precious memories, he may have been battling demons of addiction but he loved his family!
